Course Information and Student Background

Course Information: Course: LANG 0036 - English for Academic Purposes Level: Intermediate to Advanced Focus: Academic writing and critical thinking Assessment: Essay writing with rubric-based evaluation

Student Background: Academic Level: University student Language: English as additional language Goals: Improve academic writing skills Challenges: Structure, vocabulary, critical analysis

Rubric:

Assessment Task: Writing (20%) Part 1: Point-of-view Essay (10%)

Criteria: Content and Ideas 1 (Limited): Ideas are irrelevant or minimally related to the topic. Lacks awareness of the issue concerned. No clear viewpoint. 2 (Basic): Ideas are somewhat related but vague. Minimal awareness of the issue concerned. Viewpoint unclear. 3 (Developing): Ideas are relevant but basic. Some awareness of the issue concerned. Viewpoint present but weakly developed. 4 (Proficient): Ideas are relevant and solid. Good awareness of the issue concerned. Clear viewpoint with some depth. 5 (Excellent): Ideas are insightful and highly relevant. Strong awareness of the issue concerned. Well-developed, compelling viewpoint.

Criteria: Organisation and Logical Progression 1 (Limited): No clear structure. Ideas are disjointed with no development or progression. 2 (Basic): Basic structure with unclear paragraphing. Ideas are listed with little development. 3 (Developing): Clear structure with some paragraphing. Ideas are developed but lack depth or logical flow. 4 (Proficient): Well-organized with clear paragraphs. Ideas are developed logically with good flow and support. 5 (Excellent): Highly organized with effective paragraphing. Ideas are thoroughly developed with seamless, logical progression.

Criteria: Vocabulary 1 (Limited): Vocabulary is limited, repetitive, or inaccurate. Lacks topic-specific terms. 2 (Basic): Basic vocabulary with some repetition. Minimal use of topic-specific terms. 3 (Developing): Adequate vocabulary with some variety. Includes some topic-specific terms but with occasional errors. 4 (Proficient): Varied and precise vocabulary. Effective use of topic-specific terms. Minor errors. 5 (Excellent): Rich, precise vocabulary. Masterful use of topic-specific terms. Almost error-free and sophisticated.

Criteria: Grammar and Sentence Structure 1 (Limited): Frequent grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are incomplete or confusing. 2 (Basic): Several grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are simple and often flawed. 3 (Developing): Some grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are mostly correct but lack variety. 4 (Proficient): Minor grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are varied and mostly accurate. 5 (Excellent): Virtually error-free grammar and spelling. Sentences are complex, varied, and accurately constructed.

Part 2: AI-Assisted Review Skills (10%) A. In-Depth Conversation with AI 1 (Limited): No exchanges or chat history; no questions asked. 2 (Basic): Sparse conversation; one or two simple questions. 3 (Developing): Adequate exchanges; some relevant questions. 4 (Proficient): Robust interaction; detailed, relevant questions across levels. 5 (Excellent): Extensive, well-documented chat history; insightful, multi-level questioning.

B. Critical Review of AI Suggestions 1 (Limited): All AI suggestions accepted blindly. 2 (Basic): Most accepted; little analysis. 3 (Developing): Some evaluated; partial justification. 4 (Proficient): Most critically reviewed with clear justification. 5 (Excellent): All evaluated thoroughly with strong, evidence-based reasoning.

C. Refining Process 1 (Limited): No revisions made. 2 (Basic): Minimal revisions; no iteration. 3 (Developing): Some revisions with limited iteration. 4 (Proficient): Clear iterative process with multiple revisions. 5 (Excellent): Extensive refinement with iterative improvements.

My weakness is the vocabulary in writing , and also to think an interesting and attractive point

Contribution Analysis

Certainly! Since you want to combine all the opinions clearly, here is a polished and cohesive version of your essay incorporating the main ideas and strengthening the language. This version uses the strongest thesis option (Option 1) and links the body paragraphs clearly to support the thesis with better vocabulary, clearer organization, and smoother transitions.

Revised Essay:

Nowadays, many people around the world migrate from their homelands to other cities or countries in search of better job opportunities. However, migrant workers frequently face unfair treatment, including excessively long working hours for low pay and discrimination that limits their job prospects. To prevent widespread abuse and uphold human dignity, governments must enact and rigorously enforce stricter laws that punish exploitative employers, guarantee living wages and reasonable working hours, and secure legal and social protections for migrant workers.

Firstly, migrant workers include not only unskilled laborers but also highly skilled overseas talents who contribute significantly to urban development. For example, research from the University of Hong Kong shows that over 91.5% of the city's urban construction was completed by these skilled foreign workers. This demonstrates that migrant labor is vital to accelerating a city's growth and competitiveness. Therefore, governments should provide a safe and supportive working environment to attract and retain this valuable workforce.

Secondly, protecting the fundamental human rights of migrant workers is essential, starting with guaranteeing a living wage and fair hours. According to a recent CNN report, grassroots migrant workers in the UK staged a strike demanding shorter hours and reasonable pay because they earned only about £3 per hour, while even basic items like a baguette cost around £5. Such wages make it impossible for workers to meet their basic needs, which is unjust and unsustainable. We must recognize our shared humanity and empathize with their plight by enforcing labor laws that ensure fair compensation and humane working conditions.

Thirdly, treating migrant workers fairly helps maintain a positive city image and fosters social inclusion. For instance, Paris ranks highest on the "Sister Cities for Workers" list, correlating with its high proportion of fairly treated migrant workers. Cities known for welcoming foreign talent with equitable treatment attract more skilled migrants, enhancing their international reputation and economic vitality. Thus, protecting migrant workers is not only a moral imperative but also beneficial for host societies.

Although global governments face challenges in improving migrant workers' conditions, every step toward stricter enforcement contributes to a more just and inclusive world. It is time to take decisive action to recognize and uphold the rights, dignity, and contributions of migrant workers everywhere.

If you want, I can now help you by: - Further polishing vocabulary and grammar, - Adding more critical analysis to the evidence, - Creating smooth transitions between paragraphs, or - Preparing this version for final submission.

Let me know how you would like to proceed!

STUDENT ASSESSMENT REPORT

Course: LANG 0036 - Enhancing English through Global Citizenship

Module: AI for Revising Essays

ESSAY WRITING ASSESSMENT

Original Essay Scores:

- Content and Ideas: 18/25 - The position (government should protect migrant workers) is present and supported with examples (HK construction statistic, CNN strike), but ideas are underdeveloped and explanations are often general rather than analytical.
  - Organization: 17/25 - Basic paragraph structure (intro + three body paragraphs) exists, but the thesis did not preview reasons, so paragraphs feel loosely connected and transitions are weak.
  - Vocabulary: 15/25 - Limited variety and several word-choice problems (e.g., "oversea talents," "non- educate people," "gain about 3 pounds per hour") that reduce clarity.
  - Grammar and Sentence Structure: 15/25 - Frequent punctuation, article, capitalization, and phrasing errors that distract the reader.
- Original Essay Total: 65/100

Evidence (original): opening thesis: "Therefore, in order to control the situation, it's a must for the government to enforce stricter laws to safeguard migrant workers' rights ." Paragraph topic: "Secondly, migrant workers should maintain their own human rights."

Revised Essay Scores:

- Content and Ideas: 21/25 - The revised thesis is clearer and previews reasons. The essay retains relevant evidence (HK example, CNN strike) and shows improved reasoning linking policy to outcomes (wages/hours/integration).
  - Organization: 21/25 - Thesis now previews main points, improving coherence. Paragraph topic sentences are more explicitly tied to the thesis (e.g., paragraph 2 starts: "Secondly, the fundamental human rights of migrant workers must be protected, by starting with the guarantee of their living wage.").
  - Vocabulary: 20/25 - Noticeable improvement in word choice and formality (e.g., "living wages," "economic and social integration," "exploitative employers"), though occasional awkward phrasing and repetition remain.
  - Grammar and Sentence Structure: 19/25 - Sentence clarity and punctuation improved substantially; a few sentences still include minor grammatical/spacing issues and could be tightened.
- Revised Essay Total: 81/100

Evidence (revised): thesis options used — final version includes strong policy phrasing, for example: "To prevent widespread abuse and uphold human dignity, governments must enact and rigorously enforce stricter laws that punish exploitative employers, guarantee living wages and reasonable hours, and secure legal and social protections for migrant workers." Revised paragraph example: "Secondly, the fundamental human rights of migrant workers must be protected, by starting with the guarantee of their living wage."

Essay Improvement Analysis:

- Overall Improvement: +16 points
- Key Improvements Made:
- Thesis clarity and preview: Thesis was rewritten to state specific policy actions and reasons (prevents exploitation, secures wages/hours, promotes inclusion).
- Stronger topic sentence: Paragraph 2 topic sentence now explicitly frames the paragraph around human-rights protections and living wages.
- Improved vocabulary and formality: Replaced colloquial/incorrect phrases with more precise terms (e.g., "living wage," "exploitative employers," "economic and social integration").

- Missed Opportunities:

- Depth of analysis: Evidence (HK stat, CNN strike) could be more critically analyzed—explain implications, limitations, and causal links more fully.
- Citations and specificity: The essay references studies/reports but lacks clear citation details (dates, authors) and could use a wider range of data or a counterargument to strengthen persuasiveness.
- Final polishing: Minor grammatical/spacing/punctuation errors and some stylistic repetition remain; transitions could be tightened further.

HUMAN-AI INTERACTION ASSESSMENT

- Chat History Analysis:

- Total Exchanges: 9 messages (assistant and user turns combined).
- Conversation Quality: Focused and task-oriented. The assistant led a clear three-step revision plan; the student repeatedly requested stronger thesis language and asked the assistant to revise a paragraph and combine opinions. Interaction shows goal negotiation and acceptance of AI suggestions, but limited critical pushback or independent alternatives from the student.

- Interaction Scores:

- In-Depth Conversation: 3/5 - The chat includes a moderate, focused exchange (9 turns) that follows a clear revision workflow. It is adequate but not extensive: the student engaged but did not pursue many deeper probing questions or extended argumentation.
- Evidence: Assistant provided a stepwise plan and multiple thesis options; student confirmed preferences and asked for combined opinions, but there were not many additional rounds of development.
- Critical Review of AI Suggestions: 3/5 - Developing. The student requested stronger thesis options and accepted/asked for revisions, which shows some evaluation, but there is limited explicit critique or rejection of AI suggestions.
- Evidence: Student asked specifically to "make thesis language even stronger" and later asked to "combine all the opinions," indicating selective acceptance, but did not provide detailed justification for choices or propose substantially different alternatives.
- Refining Process: 4/5 - Proficient. There is a visible iterative process: AI offered diagnostics and multiple thesis options; student selected a stronger thesis; the AI integrated it into the essay and revised paragraph topic sentences and paragraph content upon request.

Evidence: Multiple cycles — diagnostic → thesis options → insertion into essay → request to revise topic sentence and paragraph → combined revision.

Human-AI Interaction Total: 10/15

OVERALL PERFORMANCE SUMMARY

Strengths Demonstrated:

- Effective use of AI guidance to produce a clearer thesis (evidence: revised thesis quoted above).
- Ability to accept and refine AI suggestions—student asked for stronger phrasing and a combined, clearer essay, and the assistant produced improved topic sentences and paragraph revision.
- Use of concrete examples in the essay (Hong Kong construction statistic; CNN report on pay) that anchor the argument.

Areas for Improvement:

- Provide deeper critical engagement with AI suggestions: explain which suggestions you accept or reject and why to develop independent editing skills.
- Expand analysis: go beyond stating evidence to explain its implications, limitations, and how it supports the thesis.
- Final copyediting: fix remaining grammar/punctuation/spacing and tighten transitions between paragraphs.

AI Collaboration Skills Assessment:

- Context Provision: Good - Student provided the essay and clear revision goals; assistant had sufficient context from the essay and course module to proceed.
- Strategic Planning: Good - The student and AI followed a structured revision plan (thesis → topic sentence → paragraph revision).
- Critical Evaluation: Developing - Student requested stronger phrasing but did not provide detailed evaluation or strong counter-suggestions.

- Independent Editing: Developing - Student relied on AI for substantial rewrites; future work should show more independent revision choices and rationale.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

1. Strengthen analysis: for each example (HK stat, CNN strike), add a sentence explaining why the evidence supports the claim and consider possible counterarguments.
2. Practice targeted copyediting: do a final pass focused only on punctuation, articles, capitalization, and spacing to eliminate remaining mechanical errors.
3. Grow critical engagement with AI: when the AI offers alternatives, briefly state which you choose and why, or propose a hybrid version—this builds independent editorial judgment.

INSTRUCTOR NOTES

- The student completed all required tasks from the module workflow: thesis revision, topic-sentence revision, and revision of a body paragraph. Evidence of completion is present in the revised essay and in the chat where the student explicitly requested stronger thesis language and paragraph revision.
- The interaction demonstrates productive use of AI scaffolding; encourage the student to develop more autonomous critical review of AI suggestions and to deepen analytical content in future drafts.

Revised:

Nowadays, to secure better job opportunities, many people choose to migrate from their homeland to another city or country. However, they often face a series of unfair treatments, such as excessively long working hours for low pay and the loss of job opportunities due to racism. Exploitation is a common reality for migrants. Therefore, to control this situation, governments must enforce tougher labour laws to control the situation . These laws are aimed at curbing exploitation and ensuring fair pay and safe working hours . It is also crucial to promote economic and social integration which can benefit the host country.

Firstly, migrant workers are not only unskilled labourers but also include highly intellectual "overseas talents." According to research from the University of Hong Kong, more than 91.5% of Hong Kong's urban construction was completed by such skilled migrants. This shows that foreign workers are crucial to a city . One can imagine that with greater manpower and professional skills , the pace of development will accelerate. Therefore, governments should provide a better working environment in order to attract and also retain this valuable workforce.

Secondly, the fundamental human rights of migrant workers must be protected, by starting with the guarantee of their living wage. According to a CNN report, grassroots migrant workers in the UK recently held a strike demanding shorter hours and reasonable pay. The report mentioned that these workers earned only about 3 pounds per hour. Considering even a simple baguette can cost 5 pounds in the UK,therefore expecting workers to survive under these conditions is neither realistic nor fair. So, it is important for us to understand that all of us share the same planet and a common humanity. We should be able to empathize with each other's difficulties.

Simultaneously, protecting the migrant workers can also help maintain a positive city image. On the "Sister Cities for Workers" ranking list, Paris was ranked at the top, coinciding with its high percentage of migrant workers. This suggests that cities with more migrant workers that were treated fairly, are expected to be perceived as welcoming and inclusive to foreign talent. Such a reputation can help enhance the city's international standing .

Although it is challenging for the global governments to improve the situation, every small step counts. Protecting migrant workers is not just a good deed but also a shared responsibility for everyone . It is time for us to decisive action to ensure their rights, dignity, and contributions are fully recognized and protected

Assistant:

Hi there! ■ I'm your English writing coach, here to help you strengthen your essay through clear, focused revision. Before we dive in, we'll take a moment to set some goals together.

Here's how our session will work:

Negotiate your targets — We'll start by discussing what you want to improve most in your essay.

Get a quick diagnosis — I'll give you feedback on your essay based on key writing rubrics (like thesis, organization, evidence, and language).

Choose what to focus on — You'll decide which issues you'd like to work on first.

Then we'll move through a structured, three-step revision process:

Step 1: Revise your thesis statement.

Step 2: Choose one body paragraph and refine its topic sentence.

Step 3: Revise the rest of that paragraph for clarity and coherence.

My role is to guide you with questions, feedback, and examples—but you'll always lead the revisions yourself. ■

You:

let revise the statement

Assistant:

Great — thank you. A quick check before we start: I see you already said your weaknesses are vocabulary and finding an interesting/attractive point. I suggest we focus today on (1) strengthening the thesis so your position is clearer and previews your main points, and then later work on vocabulary and making arguments more interesting (in Steps 2 and 3). Do you agree with these targets? If yes, I'll revise the thesis now.

Brief diagnostic feedback (quick, tied to the rubric categories)

- Content & Ideas: Your position is clear (you support stricter laws). You use examples (HK research, CNN) — good evidence choices. Weakness: ideas are often general and need clearer reasons and analysis to be more convincing.
- Organisation & Logical Progression: The essay has an intro and three body paragraphs—good basic structure. But the thesis doesn't preview the main points, so paragraphs don't feel tightly connected to the central claim.
- Vocabulary: Limited and sometimes repetitive; many word-choice errors (e.g., "oversea talents," "non- educate people," "gain about 3 pounds per hour"). This affects clarity and persuasiveness.
- Grammar & Sentence Structure: Frequent punctuation, article, capitalization, and phrasing problems that distract the reader.

Which of these would you like to focus on during this session? (Choose up to two.)

- A: Thesis clarity/argument preview (recommended first)
- B: Vocabulary choice / stronger word use
- C: Making ideas more interesting/attractive (stronger examples, more analysis)

Please confirm your choices. If you agree with my recommendation to start with the thesis, I've prepared a suggested revision below.

Step 1 — Thesis statement revision

Your current thesis sentence:

"Therefore, in order to control the situation, it's a must for the government to enforce stricter laws to safeguard migrant workers' rights ."

Feedback on that thesis:

- It states a position but is wordy and informal ("it's a must").
- It doesn't preview the main reasons you will use to support the claim.
- Stronger language and a clear preview will make the whole essay easier to organize and more persuasive.

Suggested revised thesis (choose one or tell me to adjust):

Option A (direct, previews three reasons):

"Governments should enforce stricter laws to protect migrant workers' rights because stronger regulation prevents employer exploitation, ensures fair wages and reasonable hours, and promotes social inclusion and economic stability."

Option B (more formal, slightly shorter):

"Stricter government enforcement is necessary to safeguard migrant workers' rights: it reduces exploitation, secures fair pay and working conditions, and benefits both migrants and host societies."

Do you prefer Option A or B, or would you like a different tone? If you're happy with one of these, I've put Option A into your full essay below (I changed only the thesis sentence so you can see how it fits):

Full essay with revised thesis (only the thesis sentence changed)

Next quick step (choose):

- I can now help you make the thesis language even stronger or give an alternate phrasing.
- Or we can move to Step 2 and work on a topic sentence for one paragraph (pick which paragraph: paragraph 1/2/3). Which would you like?

You:

yes , i wanna to make thesis language even stronger or give an alternate phrasing.

Assistant:

Great — I'll give you three stronger thesis options (different tones). Pick the one you like best or try to combine ideas from them — then I'll insert it into your essay and we'll move to Step 2.

Short reason for each:

- Option 1 (strong, moral + policy): Urgent and firm; highlights punishment, wages, hours, and protections.
- Option 2 (policy + mutual benefit): Formal and practical; stresses enforcement and benefits to host society.
- Option 3 (concise): Short and direct; good if you prefer a simpler sentence.

Thesis options

- 1) To prevent widespread abuse and uphold human dignity, governments must enact and rigorously enforce stricter laws that punish exploitative employers, guarantee living wages and reasonable hours, and secure legal and social protections for migrant workers.
- 2) Governments should implement and strictly enforce tougher labour laws for migrant workers to curb exploitation, ensure fair pay and safe working hours, and foster economic and social integration that benefits host societies.
- 3) Stricter government enforcement is essential to protect migrant workers from exploitation, secure fair wages and hours, and promote social inclusion.

Below I have put Option 1 (the strongest) into your full essay — I changed only the thesis sentence so you can see how it fits. Tell me if you prefer Option 2 or 3 instead, or if you want to try a version yourself.

Full essay with Option 1 as the thesis

Which do you prefer — Option 1, 2, or 3 — or would you like to try your own revision now? Once you confirm the thesis, we'll move to Step 2. Which body paragraph would you like to work on (paragraph 1 / 2 / 3)?

You:

pls help me to revise the topic statement

Assistant:

Great — I can help. Which body paragraph would you like to work on: paragraph 1 (about migrant skills/contribution), paragraph 2 (human rights / pay & hours), or paragraph 3 (city image)?

Before I give examples, could you try rewriting the topic sentence in one short sentence that clearly connects to the revised thesis? Here are three quick tips to use when you try:

- Link the sentence to the thesis reasons (e.g., "prevents exploitation," "ensures fair wages/hours," "promotes inclusion/economic benefits").
- Be specific and active (avoid vague phrases like "can help" or "should maintain").
- Use stronger vocabulary (e.g., "contribute," "secure," "integrate," "exploit," "living wage").

Would you like to try now? If you prefer, tell me which paragraph and I'll give two model topic-sentence options you can choose from.

You:

Revise one body paragraph and Revise the rest of the essay

Assistant:

Thanks — this is helpful. Before I start revising, a quick check so we follow the agreed workflow:

1) Targets — please confirm which up to two goals you want to focus on in this session (I recommend the first two):

- A: Thesis clarity / previewing main points (recommended)
- B: Vocabulary choice / stronger word use (recommended)
- C: Making ideas more interesting / deeper analysis

Which of these do you want to focus on? (Pick up to two.)

2) Scope reminder — I can only revise three things in this session:

- The thesis statement,
- The topic sentence of one body paragraph you choose,
- The rest of that chosen paragraph (supporting sentences).

You asked to "Revise one body paragraph and Revise the rest of the essay." I can revise one whole paragraph (topic sentence + supporting sentences) and the thesis, but I can't rewrite every paragraph in the essay in this session. Is that okay?

3) Thesis choice — pick one thesis option (or say "I'll write my own"):

- Option 1 (strong, moral + policy): "To prevent widespread abuse and uphold human dignity, governments must enact and rigorously enforce stricter laws that punish exploitative employers, guarantee living wages and reasonable hours, and secure legal and social protections for migrant workers."
- Option 2 (policy + mutual benefit): "Governments should implement and strictly enforce tougher labour laws for migrant workers to curb exploitation, ensure fair pay and safe working hours, and foster economic and social integration that benefits host societies."
- Option 3 (concise): "Stricter government enforcement is essential to protect migrant workers from exploitation, secure fair wages and hours, and promote social inclusion."

Which option do you prefer (1, 2, 3), or would you like to try your own thesis now?

4) Paragraph choice — which body paragraph shall we revise (pick one):

- Paragraph 1: migrant skills / contribution (HK example)

- Paragraph 2: human rights / pay & hours (CNN example)
- Paragraph 3: city image / positive reputation (Paris example)

Once you confirm targets, choose a thesis option (or say you'll write one), and pick the paragraph to work on, I'll:

- Insert the chosen thesis into your essay,
- Ask you to try a revised topic sentence for the chosen paragraph (I'll give tips and model options if you want),
- Then guide you through revising the paragraph's supporting sentences (keeping feedback focused on your targets).

Your turn — please confirm targets, thesis option (or say you'll write one), and which paragraph to revise.

You:

can you help me to combine all the opinions in a clear version

Assistant:

Yes — I can help you combine your ideas into a clearer, stronger version. To follow our agreed process, let's confirm a few quick choices before I revise anything.

1) Choose targets (pick up to two)

- A: Thesis clarity / preview main points (recommended first)
- B: Vocabulary choice / stronger word use (recommended)
- C: Make ideas more interesting / add stronger analysis or examples

Which two (or one) do you want us to focus on? I suggest A and B.

2) Quick diagnostic recap (so we're clear on priorities)

- Strengths: Your position is clear (you support stricter laws). You use relevant examples (Hong Kong, CNN). Basic structure is present (intro + three body paragraphs).
- Main weaknesses to target: Thesis needs to preview reasons and use stronger language; vocabulary and word choice are often unclear; paragraphs need clearer linkage to the thesis and a bit more analysis.

3) Which paragraph shall we revise (pick one)

- Paragraph 1: migrant skills / contribution (Hong Kong example)
- Paragraph 2: human rights / pay & hours (CNN / strike example)
- Paragraph 3: city image / reputation (Paris example)

I recommend Paragraph 2 because it already has specific evidence and ties directly to the thesis reason about wages and hours — which will help make your argument more convincing. Do you want to work on paragraph 2, or pick a different one?

4) Thesis options (pick one, or say "I'll write my own")

I've combined your main opinions into three tone options. Pick the one you like best:

Option 1 — Strong / moral tone:

"To prevent widespread abuse and uphold human dignity, governments must enact and rigorously enforce stricter laws that punish exploitative employers, guarantee living wages and reasonable hours, and secure legal and social protections for migrant workers."

Option 2 — Policy + mutual benefit (balanced, formal):

"Governments should implement and strictly enforce tougher labour laws for migrant workers to curb exploitation, ensure fair pay and safe working hours, and foster economic and social integration that benefits host societies."

Option 3 — Concise:

"Stricter government enforcement is essential to protect migrant workers from exploitation, secure fair wages and hours, and promote social inclusion."

Tell me:

- Which targets (A/B/C) you want to focus on,
- Which thesis option (1 / 2 / 3 / your own),
- Which paragraph you want to revise (1 / 2 / 3).

Once you confirm those, I'll:

- Step 1: Insert the chosen thesis and ask you to approve or tweak it,
- Step 2: Ask you to try a topic sentence for the chosen paragraph (I'll give tips and model options if you want),
- Step 3: Help you revise the rest of that paragraph's sentences for clarity and vocabulary.

Ready? Which options do you choose?
