Course Information and Student Background

Course Information: Course: LANG 0036 - English for Academic Purposes Level: Intermediate to Advanced Focus: Academic writing and critical thinking Assessment: Essay writing with rubric-based evaluation

Student Background: Academic Level: University student Language: English as additional language Goals: Improve academic writing skills Challenges: Structure, vocabulary, critical analysis

Rubric:

Assessment Task: Writing (20%) Part 1: Point-of-view Essay (10%)

Criteria: Content and Ideas 1 (Limited): Ideas are irrelevant or minimally related to the topic. Lacks awareness of the issue concerned. No clear viewpoint. 2 (Basic): Ideas are somewhat related but vague. Minimal awareness of the issue concerned. Viewpoint unclear. 3 (Developing): Ideas are relevant but basic. Some awareness of the issue concerned. Viewpoint present but weakly developed. 4 (Proficient): Ideas are relevant and solid. Good awareness of the issue concerned. Clear viewpoint with some depth. 5 (Excellent): Ideas are insightful and highly relevant. Strong awareness of the issue concerned. Well-developed, compelling viewpoint.

Criteria: Organisation and Logical Progression 1 (Limited): No clear structure. Ideas are disjointed with no development or progression. 2 (Basic): Basic structure with unclear paragraphing. Ideas are listed with little development. 3 (Developing): Clear structure with some paragraphing. Ideas are developed but lack depth or logical flow. 4 (Proficient): Well-organized with clear paragraphs. Ideas are developed logically with good flow and support. 5 (Excellent): Highly organized with effective paragraphing. Ideas are thoroughly developed with seamless, logical progression.

Criteria: Vocabulary 1 (Limited): Vocabulary is limited, repetitive, or inaccurate. Lacks topic-specific terms. 2 (Basic): Basic vocabulary with some repetition. Minimal use of topic-specific terms. 3 (Developing): Adequate vocabulary with some variety. Includes some topic-specific terms but with occasional errors. 4 (Proficient): Varied and precise vocabulary. Effective use of topic-specific terms. Minor errors. 5 (Excellent): Rich, precise vocabulary. Masterful use of topic-specific terms. Almost error-free and sophisticated.

Criteria: Grammar and Sentence Structure 1 (Limited): Frequent grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are incomplete or confusing. 2 (Basic): Several grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are simple and often flawed. 3 (Developing): Some grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are mostly correct but lack variety. 4 (Proficient): Minor grammatical and spelling errors. Sentences are varied and mostly accurate. 5 (Excellent): Virtually error-free grammar and spelling. Sentences are complex, varied, and accurately constructed.

Part 2: AI-Assisted Review Skills (10%) A. In-Depth Conversation with AI 1 (Limited): No exchanges or chat history; no questions asked. 2 (Basic): Sparse conversation; one or two simple questions. 3 (Developing): Adequate exchanges; some relevant questions. 4 (Proficient): Robust interaction; detailed, relevant questions across levels. 5 (Excellent): Extensive, well-documented chat history; insightful, multi-level questioning.

B. Critical Review of AI Suggestions 1 (Limited): All AI suggestions accepted blindly. 2 (Basic): Most accepted; little analysis. 3 (Developing): Some evaluated; partial justification. 4 (Proficient): Most critically reviewed with clear justification. 5 (Excellent): All evaluated thoroughly with strong, evidence-based reasoning.

C. Refining Process 1 (Limited): No revisions made. 2 (Basic): Minimal revisions; no iteration. 3 (Developing): Some revisions with limited iteration. 4 (Proficient): Clear iterative process with multiple revisions. 5 (Excellent): Extensive refinement with iterative improvements.

Contribution Analysis

Great questions! To further develop your essay and aim for higher rubric ratings, here's a clear plan aligned with each key category. You can apply these suggestions step-by-step as you continue revising or drafting:

---

1. Content & Ideas

Goal: Move beyond general statements to thoughtful, well-supported points.

- Explain deeply: Don't just state problems or solutions. Elaborate on why they matter. For example, when you mention wage equality, explain its effects like improving motivation, reducing poverty, or fostering social cohesion.

- Use evidence: Integrate data or examples where possible. Even if you can't access precise statistics, refer clearly to the chart or real-world trends ("e.g., studies show migrants often earn less, leading to economic inequalities").

- Address complexity: Consider potential challenges or counterarguments and briefly respond to them.

- Show impact: Discuss short- and long-term effects of enforcing stricter laws on workers, companies, and society.

Example:

"According to labor reports, migrant workers in many countries earn significantly less than native-born workers, which increases the risk of poverty and social exclusion. By guaranteeing wage equality, governments can improve economic stability and promote social integration."

---

2. Organization & Logical Progression

Goal: Make your essay flow smoothly and logically.

- One main idea per paragraph: Each paragraph should focus on a single key point from your thesis (e.g., one on legal protections, one on wage equality, one on work hours).

- Use strong topic sentences: Clearly state the paragraph's main idea and link it to the thesis.

- Transitions: Use linking words and phrases to connect ideas inside and between paragraphs (e.g., "Furthermore," "In addition," "Consequently," "However"). This guides the reader smoothly through your argument.

- Logical order: Arrange paragraphs and ideas so each one builds on the last—start with foundational points like legal protections, then move to wage equality and working conditions.

Example transition:

"Moreover, regulating working hours is essential to prevent the exploitation of migrant workers and promote their health and productivity."

3. Vocabulary

Goal: Use varied, precise, and academic language.

- Avoid repetition: If you use "wages" or "rights" a lot, find synonyms like "remuneration," "compensation," "entitlements," or "protections."

- Academic word choices: Replace basic terms with more formal options ("implement" instead of "do," "discrimination" instead of "unfairness").

- Topic-specific terms: Include phrases related to labor rights—"statutory protections," "economic inequality," "workforce integration," "anti-discrimination policies," etc.

- Collocations and phrases: Use natural phrases common in academic writing ("enforce regulations," "promote equity," "mitigate exploitation").

4. Grammar & Sentence Structure

Goal: Write clear, varied, and correct sentences with an academic tone.

- Vary sentences: Use a mix of simple, compound, and complex sentences to keep writing dynamic.

- Proofread carefully: Watch for common errors—subject-verb agreement, verb forms, article use, punctuation.

- Academic style: Avoid contractions or informal language. Keep tone objective and formal.

- Use linking structures: Phrases like "In order to," "Consequently," "This leads to," "Such measures ensure" help create cohesion.

Practical next steps for your next paragraph

1. Choose your next point (e.g., legal protections or working hours).

2. Write a clear topic sentence connected to thesis.

3. Add 2-3 supporting sentences explaining the point, using academic vocabulary and examples if possible.

4. Use transition words to connect ideas inside the paragraph and to other paragraphs.

Example paragraph structure for working hours:

"In addition to wage equality, governments must regulate working hours to prevent migrant worker exploitation. Studies have shown that excessive hours increase risks of injury and mental burnout. By limiting working hours appropriately, governments promote both worker health and productivity, benefiting companies and the broader economy."

If you want, try drafting your next paragraph following these guidelines and share it here. I'll help you refine it to maximize clarity, coherence, and academic style! Or, if you'd like, I can provide targeted exercises or examples for any rubric area you want to strengthen most.

Keep up the great work! Your thoughtful revisions so far show you're on the right track. Let me know how you'd like to proceed.

STUDENT ASSESSMENT REPORT

Course: LANG 0036 - Enhancing English through Global Citizenship

Module: AI for Revising Essays

ESSAY WRITING ASSESSMENT

Original Essay Scores:

- Content and Ideas: 18/25 - The essay presents a clear stance supporting stricter laws for migrant workers and references a chart, but ideas are only moderately developed and lack depth of explanation and supporting evidence.

- Organization: 16/25 - The essay loosely follows an introduction-body-conclusion format but struggles with paragraph unity, logical flow, and clear topic sentences; points are jumbled and sentences often overlap in purpose.

- Vocabulary: 16/25 - Basic vocabulary is used ("unfairness," "safeguard"), but there are frequent informal and awkward word choices, limited use of topic-specific academic terms, and repetition.

- Grammar: 15/25 - The essay contains frequent grammatical errors (sentence fragments, run-ons, punctuation issues, word form confusion) that detract from clarity.

- Original Essay Total: 65/100

Revised Essay Scores:

- Content and Ideas: 22/25 - The revised essay shows clearer focus and develops ideas more explicitly, especially the main solutions: legal protections, wage equality, and reduced working hours. Still, explanations remain fairly brief and lack specific evidence or real-world examples.

- Organization: 20/25 - Improved structure: thesis is stronger and previews main points; topic sentences signal paragraph focus. There is improvement in unity, but some paragraphs still combine multiple points and transitions between ideas could be smoother.

- Vocabulary: 21/25 - Far more academic: "systemic inequalities," "equitable compensation," "wage discrimination," etc. Some phrasing could be made smoother, but overall much improved.

- Grammar: 19/25 - Errors are less frequent and sentences are clearer; some minor issues remain (e.g., "ensuring them receiving" vs. "ensuring that they receive").

- Revised Essay Total: 82/100

Essay Improvement Analysis:

- Overall Improvement: +17 points

- Key Improvements Made:

- Thesis statement is substantially more academic and previews supporting arguments.

- Topic sentence for a key body paragraph clearly indicates focus on wage equality using academic vocabulary.

- The wage equality paragraph is much more unified, with better explanation for its relevance.

- Missed Opportunities:

- Supporting evidence (e.g., statistics, data, studies) is missing—development remains surface level.

- Some paragraphs still combine multiple main points; opportunity for greater focus and logical progression.

- Transitions and coherence between sentences and paragraphs could be further refined.

HUMAN-AI INTERACTION ASSESSMENT

Chat History Analysis:

- Total Exchanges: 22

- Conversation Quality: The student engaged in a guided, step-by-step revision process with the AI assistant. The discussion was structured, with the assistant leading and prompting the student through thesis, topic sentence, and body paragraph revisions. The student responded to feedback and made requested revisions, with moderate engagement in self-editing.

Interaction Scores:

- In-Depth Conversation: 3/5 - The conversation involved a series of steps and revision tasks (~22 exchanges), but depth was moderate. The student mostly followed prompts, with limited probing or deep questioning. Few insightful, multi-level questions were asked by the student.

- Critical Review of AI Suggestions: 3/5 - The student accepted most AI suggestions with some adaptation. There was occasional evidence of independent phrasing, but not much explicit justification for accepting or rejecting advice.

- Refining Process: 4/5 - There was a clear, iterative revision process: thesis, topic sentence, and body paragraph all underwent refinement based on feedback. Revision cycles are present, though the process would benefit from more rounds and deeper reflection.

- Human-AI Interaction Total: 10/15

OVERALL PERFORMANCE SUMMARY

Strengths Demonstrated:

- Willingness to engage in structured step-by-step revision with the AI assistant (evidenced by submission of revised thesis, topic sentence, and body paragraph).

- Clear improvements in academic vocabulary and structural clarity (thesis and topic sentence now preview/support main ideas).

- Ability to paraphrase and incorporate AI suggestions in own words, rather than mere copying.

Areas for Improvement:

- Provide deeper supporting evidence and examples for ideas to enhance argument strength and rubric scores.

- Engage more critically with AI feedback by questioning, modifying, or justifying choices—actively challenge or refine suggestions.

- Strengthen transitions and paragraph unity; avoid combining several main points in a single paragraph ("regulations," "wage equality," and "working hours" should be separated for clarity).

AI Collaboration Skills Assessment:

- Context Provision: Good - The student made the course module and assignment context clear, but could state learning goals even more explicitly in future.

- Strategic Planning: Good - Followed AI instructions step-by-step, set priorities, but there was limited evidence of re-prioritizing or higher-level planning.

- Critical Evaluation: Developing - Most AI feedback accepted; not much challenge or deep justification given.

- Independent Editing: Good - Student wrote original sentences in response to prompts, but usually followed AI models quite closely.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

1. To achieve higher essay scores, expand development of key ideas with concrete evidence, data, and relevant examples.

2. Engage more critically with AI suggestions—ask questions, propose alternatives, and justify your choices to demonstrate deeper understanding.

3. Focus on logical progression: use clear transitions, keep each paragraph unified, and avoid combining unrelated points.

INSTRUCTOR NOTES

- The student followed the structured revision sequence and made solid improvements in thesis, topic sentence, and body paragraph.

- Human-AI interactions were mostly responsive, with limited evidence of critical questioning or independent strategy.

- Recommend additional practice in critical analysis of feedback, building self-revision skills, and deepening arguments with evidence.

- The student should complete revision steps for all major essay components before module submission for best learning impact.

Given the unfairness to the migrant workers, Governments should enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights.
The above chart shows that,in some countries, the unemployment of migrants is strongly higher than the native-born population,such as Croatia,slovakia. The United States and Australia. These countries cover not only developing countries but also developed countries. They are strongly influenced by historical reasons and those reasons may lead to many results that are bad for the financial developments for their societies and countries,ranging from high rate of immigration to severe racismn, And those problems may lead to more serious and terrible trouble like nagativity for the jobs and works in migrants groups and low growth of coutry's economic development. To tackle those problem and try to avoid them in the future, it is necessary and important for governments to enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights. For the first, they.should consider how to make their regulations stronger, it counts the foundation of positivity of migrant workers. Second. they should think about some methods to improve the salaries and payments for migrant workers.so that they can get the same pay as native-born workers. Last but not the least, properly shortening the working hours of the workers.so they can have more time to have a rest and complete their work more quickly in higher qualities. From what have been stated above, if governments can enforce stricter lawer to protect migrant workers rights, the economical and financial condition can be improved strongly and the society will be more peaceful. since migrant workers will get fairness and will be positive to work for their companies.society and country and have the strong senses of belongings.

Revised:
Given the unfairness to the migrant workers,To address systemic inequalities faced by migrant workers, governments must implement stricter regulations by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and reducing excessive working hours.
The above chart shows that,in some countries, the unemployment of migrants is strongly higher than the native-born population,such as Croatia,Slovakia. The United States and Australia.This issue affects both developing and developed nations. They are strongly influenced by historical reasons and those reasons may lead to many results that are bad for the financial developments for their societies and countries,ranging from high rate of immigration to severe racism, And those problems may lead to more serious and terrible trouble like negativity for the jobs and works in migrants groups and low growth of country's economic development.
Therefore, to address these challenges and prevent them from recurring, it is crucial for governments to introduce stronger laws that safeguard the rights of migrant workers.Governments must guarantee equitable compensation for migrant workers by ensuring that they receive the same wage as native-born employees. Firstly, existing regulations need to be enhanced, as weak legal frameworks often lead to exploitation and unfair treatment. Secondly, it is crucial to guarantee that migrant workers receive the same pay as native-born workers for equivalent work, since wage discrimination not only undermines their motivation but also perpetuates economic inequality. Finally, reasonably limiting working hours is essential; adequate rest enables workers to maintain better health and higher productivity, which benefits both the individuals and the employers.
From what have been stated above, if governments can enforce stricter laws to protect migrant workers rights, the economical and financial condition can be improved strongly and the society will be more peaceful. since migrant workers will get fairness and will be positive to work for their companies■society and country and have the strong senses of belongings.

Assistant:

Hi there! ■ I'm your English writing coach, here to help you strengthen your essay through clear, focused revision. Before we dive in, we'll take a moment to set some goals together.

Here's how our session will work:

Negotiate your targets — We'll start by discussing what you want to improve most in your essay.
Get a quick diagnosis — I'll give you feedback on your essay based on key writing rubrics (like thesis, organization, evidence, and language).
Choose what to focus on — You'll decide which issues you'd like to work on first.
Then we'll move through a structured, three-step revision process:

Step 1: Revise your thesis statement.
Step 2: Choose one body paragraph and refine its topic sentence.

Step 3: Revise the rest of that paragraph for clarity and coherence.
My role is to guide you with questions, feedback, and examples—but you'll always lead the revisions yourself. ■

You:

this assignment is about if government should publish stricter laws to safeguard the migrant workers rights. please revise thesis statement.

Assistant:

Great! Let's begin by negotiating learning targets and diagnosing your essay before we move to revising your thesis statement.

1. Negotiating Targets

To help you best, tell me:
What do YOU most want to improve in your essay right now? Here are some possible choices—please choose one or more or add your own:

- Clarity (making ideas easier to understand)

- Argument strength (making your position and reasons clear and convincing)

- Structure (organizing your ideas logically)

- Vocabulary (using the right words for academic writing)

- Grammar and sentence structure (writing correct and varied sentences)

- Style (sounding academic and formal)

- Something else?

Which would you most like to work on today?

2. Diagnostic Feedback (based on rubric):

Here is some brief feedback on your current draft:

Thesis & Argument:
Strength: Your viewpoint is clear—you support stricter laws for migrant rights.
Area to Improve: The thesis could be more specific and preview your main reasons.

Organization:
Strength: Ideas develop logically from the chart to laws and benefits.
Area to Improve: Paragraphing is needed; topic sentences could be stronger.

Evidence & Development:
Strength: You refer to chart data and reasons (history, economics).

Area to Improve: More explanation and specifics would make your support stronger.

Language Use (Vocabulary/Grammar):
Strength: Main ideas are understandable.
Area to Improve: Vocabulary can be more academic; grammar and sentence structure need attention, especially punctuation and word choice.

3. Student Priority Selection:

Please review these areas and tell me:
Which TWO would you like to focus on MOST? (For example: thesis clarity and grammar, or structure and vocabulary.)

Once you confirm your chosen targets, we'll move to Step 1: Thesis Revision.

---

Your turn:
What writing goal(s) do you want to focus on today? And, which two diagnostic areas above do you want to work on most?

You:

Structure (organizing your ideas logically)
Vocabulary (using the right words for academic writing)
Grammar and sentence structure (writing correct and varied sentences)

Assistant:

Thank you for sharing your goals! You've chosen:

. Structure (organizing your ideas logically)

2. Vocabulary (using the right words for academic writing)

3. Grammar and sentence structure (writing correct and varied sentences)

Since you've named three, is it okay if we focus most on structure and vocabulary (your top two), while also addressing grammar and sentence corrections during revision? Please confirm, or re-rank them if you want a different order!

Once you confirm, we'll start with Step 1: Thesis Revision.

To confirm:
Are these (structure and vocabulary) your top two for today? Or would you prefer to switch the focus to grammar and sentence structure?
Let me know, and then please copy and paste your current thesis statement ("Given the unfairness to the migrant workers, Governments should enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights.") so we can review and revise it together.
Let's get started!

You:

yes it is.my original essay has been submitted at"your original essay"

Assistant:

Thank you for confirming! We'll focus on structure and vocabulary as your top priorities, and I'll help with grammar and sentence structure as we revise.

Step 1: Thesis Statement Revision

Your current thesis statement:

> "Given the unfairness to the migrant workers, Governments should enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights."

Let's review it based on your goals:

- Structure: It clearly gives your viewpoint but doesn't preview your main supporting reasons.

- Vocabulary: "Unfairness" is clear, but consider using more academic language (e.g., "inequities," "disparities").

- Grammar/Style: "Governments" should be lowercase; "should enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights" is a good structure.

Suggestions for improvement:

- Make your thesis more specific: What kinds of unfairness or problems? How will stricter laws help?

- Preview your main points: For example, mention improving regulations, equal pay, and limiting working hours.

Prompt:
Would you like to try revising your thesis statement now? Try to include both your argument AND a preview of the key points you will discuss.
If you'd like help, here's a sentence starter you could adapt:

> "To address the significant inequalities faced by migrant workers, governments should enforce stricter laws—such as improving regulations, ensuring equal pay, and limiting working hours—to protect their rights."

Let's see your revision! Please type your new thesis statement below. I'll review and support you in refining it.

Ready to try?
Go ahead and write your revised thesis statement.

You:

Assistant:

Thank you for sharing your revised thesis and the context! Let's walk through Step 1 together, focusing on structure and vocabulary as you requested.

Step 1 — Thesis Statement Revision

Your current thesis statement:

> "Given the unfairness to the migrant workers, Governments should enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights."

Feedback

- Structure: The basic argument is clear, but the thesis does not preview the main points you discuss later (regulations, equal pay, working hours).

- Vocabulary: "Unfairness" is understandable but could be replaced by more formal or academic language. Avoid repeating simple words like "right" or using "governments" with a capital G.

- Grammar: "Governments" should be lowercase. Combine the argument and the preview of supporting points in a single, confident sentence.

Let's Revise!

Prompt:
Would you like to try revising your thesis statement using more specific and academic vocabulary, and previewing your three main points: stricter regulations, equal pay, and reasonable working hours?

If you'd like help, here's a model sentence to guide you (but please customize it in your own words):

> To address the significant inequalities faced by migrant workers, governments should enforce stricter laws by improving regulations, ensuring equal pay, and reducing excessive working hours in order to safeguard their rights.

Your turn:
Try rewriting your thesis statement below, using your own words. Aim to:

- Use academic language (for example, "inequality," "regulations," "ensuring," "reducing excessive working hours").

- Mention the main supporting points you'll discuss.

- Make it one confident and clear sentence.

Would you like to try now?
Go ahead and write your revised thesis statement!
(If you want, you can base it on the model–but put it in your own words.)

Once you write your revision, I'll review it and offer encouraging, targeted feedback before we move to Step 2!

You:

To address systemic inequalities faced by migrant workers, governments must implement stricter regulations by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and reducing excessive working hours.

Assistant:

Excellent job! Your revised thesis shows strong improvement in both structure and vocabulary—let's review it closely:

"To address systemic inequalities faced by migrant workers, governments must implement stricter regulations by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and reducing excessive working hours."

Strengths:

- Structure:

- You clearly state the problem ("systemic inequalities") and the solution (governments must act).

- You preview the three main supporting points: legal protections, wage equality, and working hours. This will help organize your body paragraphs.

- Vocabulary:

- Excellent use of academic phrases like "systemic inequalities," "legal protections," "wage equality," and "excessive working hours."

- The word choice is formal and appropriate for academic writing.

- Grammar/Style:

- The sentence structure is confident and flows smoothly.

- No hedging or unnecessary words—very clear!

One Minor Suggestion (Optional):

You might tighten the language just a bit by removing "by" and simply listing the three points, for even more clarity:

> "…governments must implement stricter regulations, including strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and reducing excessive working hours."

But your version is already strong—so it's your choice!

Are you satisfied with this thesis statement, or would you like to adjust it further?
Let me know if you want to refine it—otherwise, we can move to Step 2: Topic Sentence Revision.

Your next step:
Are you ready to move to revising a body paragraph's topic sentence?
If so, please copy and paste the first sentence of one of your body paragraphs below (or tell me which paragraph you want to work on next).

You:

the second paragraph

Assistant:

Great choice! We'll focus on revising the topic sentence of your second paragraph, making sure it connects logically to your new thesis and uses effective academic vocabulary.

Your thesis previewed these three points:
- Strengthening legal protections
- Ensuring wage equality
- Reducing excessive working hours

Since your second paragraph seems to discuss equal pay/salaries and payments for migrant workers, let's ensure your topic sentence introduces this idea clearly, links back to your thesis, and uses formal language.

Step 2 — Topic Sentence Revision

Your original topic sentence for Paragraph 2:

> "Second. they should think about some methods to improve the salaries and payments for migrant workers.so that they can get the same pay as native-born workers."

Feedback

> Structure: The topic sentence introduces the idea of equal pay, but it could be clearer and more focused.

- Vocabulary: "Salaries and payments" is okay, but "wage equality" or "equitable compensation" is more academic.

- Grammar: The sentence needs correct punctuation and stronger, more concise structure.

Revision Prompt

Try rewriting your topic sentence to:
- Connect clearly to your thesis ("governments must ... ensure wage equality").
- Use academic vocabulary ("wage equality," "equitable compensation," etc.).
- State the main idea of the paragraph confidently.

Model here for inspiration (please put in your own words):

"Governments must prioritize wage equality by guaranteeing that migrant workers receive the same compensation as native-born employees."

Your turn:
Would you like to revise your topic sentence for this paragraph now?
Write your new topic sentence below—a clear, academic statement introducing your paragraph's focus on wage equality.

If you'd like, you can base it on the model above but adapt it to your style.

Let me know when you've finished your revision!
Once you share your revised topic sentence, I'll give feedback and then guide you through improving the rest of the paragraph.

You:

Governments must guarantee the equitable compensation between native-born employees and migrant workers by ensuring them receiving the same wage

Assistant:

Fantastic work! Your revised topic sentence shows major improvements in structure and vocabulary. Let's review it:

"Governments must guarantee the equitable compensation between native-born employees and migrant workers by ensuring them receiving the same wage."

Strengths

Structure:

The sentence directly states the paragraph's main idea: equal pay for migrant workers.

It links back to your thesis focus on wage equality.

Vocabulary:

- "Equitable compensation" and "the same wage" are formal, academic expressions.

Grammar/Clarity Suggestions

To make the sentence even smoother and more academic, let's adjust word order slightly and fix a small grammar point.
- The phrase "by ensuring them receiving the same wage" should be "by ensuring that they receive the same wage".

Here's a refined version (please adapt as you wish):

> "Governments must guarantee equitable compensation for migrant workers by ensuring that they receive the same wage as native-born employees."

OR (if you prefer a slightly shorter version):

> "Governments must guarantee that migrant workers receive wages equal to native-born employees."

Would you like to try making a small revision to your sentence based on these suggestions?
You can choose whichever version feels most natural, or write your own—just remember clarity and academic word choice.

Your next step:
Ready to move on to revising the rest of this paragraph?
If so, please copy/paste the full paragraph here so we can improve its supporting sentences for clarity, unity, and vocabulary.

Let me know when you've made your final topic sentence revision and pasted the paragraph!
I'm here to help you strengthen it, step by step.

You:

To tackle those problem and try to avoid them in the future, it is necessary and important for governments to enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights.Governments must guarantee equitable compensation for migrant workers by ensuring that they receive the same wage as native-born employees. For the first, they should consider how to make their regulations stronger, it counts the foundation of positivity of migrant workers. Last but not the least, properly shortening the working hours of the workers so they can have more time to have a rest and complete their work more quickly in higher qualities.

Assistant:

Fantastic effort! Let's work together to revise your paragraph, focusing on structure and vocabulary, and also improving grammar and sentence clarity as we go. I'll guide you step by step—remember, I won't rewrite the whole paragraph for you, but I'll help you improve each part.

Step 3 — Revising the Rest of the Paragraph

Your revised paragraph:

> To tackle those problem and try to avoid them in the future, it is necessary and important for governments to enforce stricter laws to safeguard their rights. Governments must guarantee equitable compensation for migrant workers by ensuring that they receive the same wage as native-born employees. For the first, they should consider how to make their regulations stronger, it counts the foundation of positivity of migrant workers. Last but not the least, properly shortening the working hours of the workers so they can have more time to have a rest and complete their work more quickly in higher qualities.

Step-by-Step Guidance

1. Start with Unity and Order

- This paragraph's topic is wage equality (per your new topic sentence).

- Other points (regulations, working hours) should go in their own paragraphs.

- So, let's focus this paragraph only on wage equality.

2. Remove unrelated sentences or move them to the right paragraph

- The ideas about "regulations" and "working hours" should be in separate paragraphs.

- For this paragraph, keep only ideas about wage equality for migrant workers.

3. Clarify and Expand Supporting Details

Let's look at your supporting sentences:

> "Governments must guarantee equitable compensation for migrant workers by ensuring that they receive the same wage as native-born employees."
> (Strong topic sentence—keep as is.)

> "For the first, they should consider how to make their regulations stronger, it counts the foundation of positivity of migrant workers."

This is about strengthening regulations, which is another main point, so let's move it elsewhere.

> "Last but not the least, properly shortening the working hours of the workers so they can have more time to have a rest and complete their work more quickly in higher qualities."

- This is about working hours—should also be in its own paragraph.

4. Expand on Wage Equality

Now, let's guide your supporting sentences:

- Do you have evidence or explanation for WHY wage equality is important for migrant workers?

- Can you explain the impact? For example:

- How does receiving equal pay benefit migrant workers?

- What problems exist when wages are not equal?

- Are there social or economic benefits for the country?

Prompt:

Would you like to add a supporting sentence that explains:
- Why governments should ensure equal wages,
- How this improves fairness,
- The possible positive effects (for workers, companies, or society)?

Try writing one or two sentences to expand your paragraph. Use academic vocabulary like "fairness," "motivation," "economic stability," "discrimination," "benefits," etc.

Here's a helpful sentence starter you can use or adapt:

"By guaranteeing equal wages, governments not only promote fairness and reduce discrimination, but also encourage migrant workers to contribute more effectively to the economy."

Your task:
- Remove off-topic sentences.
- Add one or two supporting sentences explaining the importance and impacts of wage equality.
- Try to use academic vocabulary.

You're doing great—step by step, your writing becomes clearer and more academic.

You:

To effectively safeguard migrant workers' rights, governments should enforce stricter laws by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and regulating working hours. Firstly, existing regulations need to be enhanced, as weak legal frameworks often lead to exploitation and unfair treatment. Secondly, it is crucial to guarantee that migrant workers receive the same pay as native-born workers for equivalent work, since wage discrimination not only undermines their motivation but also perpetuates economic inequality. Finally, reasonably limiting working hours is essential; adequate rest enables workers to maintain better health and higher productivity, which benefits both the individuals and the employers.

Assistant:

Excellent work! Your revised writing shows substantial improvement in both structure and vocabulary, while also addressing grammar and sentence clarity. Let's review your new paragraph together.

Full Revised Draft (with improved thesis, topic sentence, and paragraph):

Thesis Statement:

To effectively safeguard migrant workers' rights, governments should enforce stricter laws by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and regulating working hours.

Body Paragraph: Wage Equality

Secondly, it is crucial to guarantee that migrant workers receive the same pay as native-born workers for equivalent work, since wage discrimination not only undermines their motivation but also perpetuates economic inequality.

Feedback & Suggestions

1. Structure

Your paragraph now focuses on one clear idea: wage equality.

The topic sentence introduces the paragraph's main point and links directly to the thesis.

Supporting sentences explain the impact of wage discrimination—excellent unity!

2. Vocabulary

You've used academic phrases like "guarantee," "receive the same pay," "wage discrimination," "undermines motivation," "perpetuates economic inequality."

This is appropriate for university-level writing.

3. Grammar & Sentence Clarity

Sentences are clear, varied, and correct.

- Avoids repetition and unnecessary words.

4. Development

- You explain why wage equality matters ("undermines motivation," "economic inequality").

- For even more depth, you could add a specific example or a brief explanation of how equal pay could improve workplace morale or social integration—but what you have is focused and effective.

Optional Fine-Tuning

If you want to polish further, you could add one more sentence with academic connectors:

> For instance, when all workers receive fair compensation, they are more likely to feel valued and contribute positively to the workplace, which fosters social cohesion and economic growth.

But this is optional—your paragraph already meets the key revision targets.

Your Full Revised Section:

> To effectively safeguard migrant workers' rights, governments should enforce stricter laws by strengthening legal protections, ensuring wage equality, and regulating working hours. Secondly, it is crucial to guarantee that migrant workers receive the same pay as native-born workers for equivalent work, since wage discrimination not only undermines their motivation but also perpetuates economic inequality.

Congratulations on your progress!
- Your work now demonstrates a much stronger structure and more academic vocabulary.
- Sentences are accurate and clear.
- Your argument is logical, focused, and well-supported.

Reflection and Next Steps

- If you want your essay to score higher in the rubric, keep each paragraph focused with a clear topic sentence, develop your points with specifics/examples, and maintain academic vocabulary.

- You can repeat this process with the next sections: write a topic sentence, develop support, and revise for clarity and unity.

Would you like to continue revising another body paragraph (e.g., legal protections or working hours), or do you have questions about developing your essay further for different rubric categories?

Let me know how you'd like to proceed!
You're doing a fantastic job—keep going!

1. Content & Ideas

To move from "Proficient" to "Excellent":
- Demonstrate Insight: Go beyond basic explanations. Offer thoughtful analysis on why the issue matters, or consider counterarguments (and address them).
- Use Evidence: Refer to data (like the chart you mention) or real-world examples to support your points.
- Develop Viewpoint: Explain both the short-term and long-term effects of the issue or proposed solution.

Tip:
Instead of simply saying, "wage discrimination is bad," explain how unfair pay leads to higher turnover, lower morale, and impacts the country's economy. If you reference statistics or studies, even briefly, it strengthens your argument.

Example sentence starter:
"According to recent labor studies, migrant workers in [Country] earn 20% less than their native-born counterparts, which contributes to higher poverty rates and social tension."

---

2. Organisation & Logical Progression

To achieve "Excellent":
- Paragraph Unity: Each paragraph should have a clear focus (one main point), signaled by a strong topic sentence.
- Transitions: Use linking words/phrases ("Furthermore," "Moreover," "In contrast," "As a result") to guide the reader between and within paragraphs.
- Seamless Flow: Connect points logically, so your essay reads as one coherent argument, not just a list of ideas.

Example transitions:
- "Furthermore, strict regulation of working hours is essential to prevent exploitation."
- "In addition to wage equality, legal protections play a vital role…"

3. Vocabulary

To reach "Excellent":
- Variety: Avoid repeating the same terms; use synonyms and academic language.
- Precision: Use the most accurate word for your meaning (e.g., "remuneration" instead of "payment," "statutory protection" for "laws").
- Topic-specific Terms: Reference labor rights, discrimination, statutory protections, workforce integration, etc.

4. Grammar & Sentence Structure

To reach "Excellent":
- Sentence Variety: Use a mix of simple, compound, and complex sentences.
- Accuracy: Minimize grammatical errors by proofreading and editing.
- Academic Tone: Avoid conversational language; stay formal and objective.

Example:
"In order to address systemic inequities, governments ought to mandate equal remuneration and rigorously enforce anti-discrimination statutes throughout all sectors of employment."

Practical Next Steps — Refining Your Body Paragraphs

For each new paragraph:
1. Begin with a strong, specific topic sentence linking to the thesis.
2. Develop the idea: Explain, elaborate, provide evidence or examples, state the impact.
3. Use academic vocabulary and transition phrases.
4. Conclude the paragraph with a statement connecting back to your overall argument.

Sample structure for a body paragraph (on working hours):

Topic Sentence: In addition to equitable wages, governments must regulate working hours to prevent exploitation of migrant workers.
Evidence/Development: Numerous studies indicate that excessive working hours increase the risk of workplace accidents and negatively affect mental health. By limiting working hours, governments not only protect worker well-being but also improve overall productivity.
Impact/Connection: Ensuring safe and fair working conditions helps foster an inclusive and equitable society.

Would you like to try developing your next body paragraph using this structure?

If yes, pick the next main point (e.g., "regulating working hours" or "strengthening legal protections") and follow these steps:

- Write your topic sentence.

- Add at least two supporting sentences (with explanation, examples, or evidence).

- Use transitional phrases and appropriate academic vocabulary.

Paste your new draft here when you're ready, and I'll help you revise it for maximum impact!

If you want specific examples, resources, or more practice questions for any rubric category, just let me know!
